The Barly Press

Honogong, July 19th, 1871.

THE registration of servants has long been recognised as one of the most amusing farces played by that versatile company, the Government Variety and Combination Troupe. The time is long past when people used to ask themselves of what possible use this system might be. The period of shaking heads the year 1679. Now from that time to this no in grave doubt as to its utility is also past, and the whole thing is now known and treated simply as a rather heavy joke. Possibly, however, our readers were not quite prepared for the emphatic opinion on this subject which recently fell from the newly appointed Coroner, Mr. LISTER. That officer, having himself filled the post of Registrar-General for something like two years, may be taken to have some knowledge of the working of the system, seen from the official side, and his unequivocal statement is that to discover a single case brought against an registration is quite useless. The public who when we consider the practical circumstances have gone afternoon, when his wife told him the child ontthat was was that it was called piracy in the one afternoon, when his wife told him the child one which is not in their case and marger in the other. That was what was gone. She, it appears, had gone into a shop brought up again. Well, then, with this case and marger in the other. That was what was gone. She, it appears, had gone into a shop brought up again. Well, then, with this case and marger in the other. That was what was gone. She, it appears, had gone into a shop bard to the college who rose province, and that they will do right though Mr. Hayllar admitted.

The public who which he note, I think I shall be able to been tried that he had nown hear of the college who rose province, and that they will do right though Mr. Hayllar admitted. the outside point of view have long anticipated this ppinion, which is, therefore, only him to have to perform his duties with any important as a kind of admission, though of kind of safety. In considering the statute, it is course it does not come from a member of the present Government. It would be rather interesting to know on what supposition it was ever imagined that the absurd; process termed registration could have any beneficial a Common Law, right which dated from result at all. But in the absence of information on this point, it may safely be assumed always been the inherent right of all subjects that the mode of conducting that process which is now employed was not contemplated why they should not. Now this privilege has by any man same enough to be a legislator been exercised with only varied success on aceven in Hongkong. It appears that a ser- willing to proceed to arbitrary acts, so that men vant who already possesses a registration- were frequently thrown into prison and the ticket may take it to the office of the Rs-CISTRAD-GENERAL at any time convenient to tinued with more or less severity until the time him, make at the office what statements he of Charles II., when at last prominent attention chooses, and insist on the entry of names and dates on his ticket in accordance with his statement. This is a marvellous consumma- blank, so that people were constantly seized tion of absurdity. The rest of the joke in and thrown into prison; and the Press was connection with this revelation may as well be told. The Hon. Mr. Ball was occupied | tion. These general warrants specified no the other day with a case involving a ques. particular person, but enabled their holders to tion of a registration ticket. With the in- specifying the crime for which the arrest was stinct of a lawyer accustomed to rely upon made. The state of affairs existing will be the veracity of decuments issuing from a public office, the learned judge was disposed the Habeas Corpus Act was framed. There is to treat the matter as no longer questionable every reason to consider, however, that the after the production of the ticket, which it prisoner, Kwok-n-sing, plaintiff in this case. is needless to say fully bore out the servant's statute of the Slat Charles II.; but under the story. But the defendant urged with some common law, which gives a general right to emphasis that he had never seen and had every subject to call for the issue of never been consulted on the subject of the soned. What the Statute enacts, and what ticket which was to be made evidence against state of things it was designed to meet him, and Mr. Ball, somewhat surprised, sent for the Registration clerk from the office | the part of sheriffs, gaolors and others, who downstairs. Mr. Osmond said he had re- resorted to shifts whereby subjects were detainceived instructions from Mr. Smith always to insert the names and dates given by the the body of the prisoners. These words are exservant in cases in which no communication | ceedingly important in looking at these acts, was received from the employer. These instructions were given him on the occasion of to the Chinese Government, it was set forth on the sole statement of the servant, which goes to show that Mr. Osmond struck out a scintillation of intelligence altogether unsuited to the mournful shades of the REGISgrievous an oversight. an Indian correspondent, relating to a pecuniary loss which he had sustained through the gambling propensity of a servant. He had found the man and had him punished by country in which the crime has been comthe Magistrate, but with regard to the money he had failed to find a remedy. Mr. DEANE, the gambling-house people for allowing a servant to play, because for sooth our corres- soner. That seems to me to get rid of pondent was not a European. No doubt. Mr. DEANE had the actual words of the Reto shield themselves under an officer as it was simed. But, gentlemen, I am strengthwas clear they did in this case. That is, it became clear afterwards, for our corres pondent proceeded to enquire of the REGIS-TRAR-GENERAL, who after some time informed him that he was forbidden by the Government to do anything in the matter. Just out bidding, and whether Mr. SMITH's own veto as Executive Councillor would be binding on Mr. Smith as Registrar-General.

But there it is; not a month passes in which some extraordinary abuse connected brought to light, notwithstanding the dark- Lordship-"If anything"] and this being as the registration of servants goes, it is of would draw his Lordship's, attention. SUPREME COURT.

BEFORE THE HON. CHIEF JUSTICE SHALE. Kwok a sing v. Hon. J. Pauncefote. Mr. Hayllar, in opening the case for the defendant, said: In spite of the admissions which have been so freely made, and which the learned advocate tied up in a knot, I think I shall be able to show to you that there is no case of any port, kind, or description. The section of the statute under which the action is brought is the 6th section of the Sist Charles, II, passed in suit whatever bas ever been brought upon this section. This is the first action, to which this section has ever given rise. The irony of the privilege; and it is to be enforced for the first time in this, one of the smallest of Her Majesty's possessions, at the greatest distance from home, and where there is great difficulty in ob taining the requisite books and other necessaries for conducting the case; and it is also some what strange that the first person against whom an action is brought should be an Attorney General: for we have researched so far as the books here will allow; and have not been ablo statute was made. The Habeas Corpus Act is not the father of the right of Habeas Corpus It is a great mistake, but one which is very commonly made to imagine, that this act in troduced any new principle. Habeas Corpus i earliest days, prior to Magna Charta. It has when charged with an offence to be brought up to bave their trial, or to have good reason shown count of Kings, Parliaments, and Judges being constitutional right of habeas corpus was of no benefit to them. This state of affairs conwas called to the subject in consequence of the Earl of Clarendon having taken advantage of his powerful position to issué warrants in gagged by being placed under consorable; there was no redress against this illegal incarceraseize any one they chose, and even without seen from Hallam's Constitutional History, which sets forth fully the reasons for which was not brought up to this Court under the. writ of habeas corpus, when he is impriis well shown in the preamble, which states that whereas great delays took place on ed in prison, &c., it is enacted that within turee days of the issue of a writ they shall bring up

THE CHINESE VIEW OF THE TIENTSIN MASSACRE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS." Sir.—I read in your issue of yesterday a letter signed." A Chinaman." I think it very fair that if the Chinaman wishes to place the Measure of Tientsin on the same footing as the Massacre of the Priests in Paris by the Communists, he should also accept the same consequence. M. Thiere sent the Versailles troops to Paris, who they say put to death about 60,000 Communists, the murderers of the sixty priests. M. Thiers ought therefore to send the Versailles troops to Tientsin to do the same there. However, considering that the murderers of the Sisters of Charity were of a very low class, I think they would be treated fairly if only 80,000 of the Chinese of Tientsin should be made to expiate the massacre of the Priests and Sisters of Charity.

Hongkong, 17th July 1871.

POLICE MISMANAGEMENT AGAIN. TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS." SIE,-It is well known that all the wharves and jetties are being pretty rapidly silted up, and that whereas a few years ago boats could lay alongside at low water; such a thing is now impossible in many cases. Notwithstanding this fact, will it be believed that this afternoon the Chain-gang shovelled tons of dirt into the sea, both close to and from Burd's wharf itself and at low water. Personally, I am not interested, further than as a tenant of part of the property which is thus depreciated, by the water access being rendered more difficult, but the whole proceeding is so scandalous that it deserves being held up to public reprobation.

Yours fuithfully, DAVID WELSH. Hongkong, 18th July 1871.

FUNERAL OF LIEUT. McKEE OF

THE U.S. NAVY.

(N. C. Daily News, July 12th.) The body of Lieut. McKee, who fell in the attack on the Corean stronghold on the 10th of last month, was last evening transferred from the Monocucy to the P. M. S. Arizona, with naval honours. At a few minutes past six o'clock two companies of seamen, to form the Late Farrier Major of Bengal Horse Artillery', guard, landed at the Nanzing Road jetty, close to the American Consulate, and were formed in line on the road. The last boat to arrive brought the coffin, which was borne to the hearse by a party of six marines and six seamen, on either side, and preceded by officers from the two ships. The coffin having been SAIL MARING in all its branches, at his old deposited with some difficulty, from its great weight, the procession formed. Lieut, Smith of the Monocacy had charge of the executive, and disposed the guard half in advance and half in rear, with the men who acted as hearers on either side of the hearse. Following the bearse came Captains McCrea, of the Monocacu; and Rockwell, of the Palos, with the officers of their ships in order of rank. After these came Consul-General Seward and Consul Johnston, Hankow, Rev. Mesers. Nelson and Syle, Mr. MESSRS. D.
